and the Latter Retorts With REFERENCE TO NEW YEAR CALLS.

Sympathy Felt for Both Gentlemen Because They are Democrats.

THE SENATE DISCUSSES THE TARIFF.

Cotton Taken Up, and the Point Made That Farmers Votes Settled the Election.

The National Legislative bodies met yesterday after the holiday recess. In the Senate the tariff bill was taken up and discussed, but no progress made. In the House Mr. Crain, of Texas, and Mr. Sowden, of Pennsylvania, exchanged compliments which verged upon insult, during the discussion of the river and harbor bill. No progress was made in this, either.

WASHINGTON, January 2 .- In the House and harbor bill, Mr. Sowden, of Pennsyl- an elevated railway station early this mornextravagant and wasteful, and directed his tions for improvements in Texas.

This brought Mr. Crain, of Texas, to his feet, and he congratulated the gentleman that, in delivering his valedictory to the House, he had developed to an extraordinary degree the bumps of economy, which had not characterized him when he had asked Congress to appropriate $100,000 for a postoffice at some little place in Pennsylvania, called, he believed, the downfall of the hopes of the gentleman from Pennsyl-The gentleman was evidently desirous of showing his people that at last, in the closing days of the Fiftieth Congress, he had become a reformer-a stanch Democrat of the Holman-Randall type.

SORRY THEY WERE DEMOCRATS. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, said that he would not enter into a discussion of the question as to what kind of a Democrat the gentleman from Pennsylvania or the gentle man from Texas was. It was enough for him to know that they were both Democrats. That was bad for both of them. He only desired to say on behalf of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors that it had bestowed careful attention upon the items appropriating money for the improvement of works in Texas. There was nothing of sectionalism or favoritism in the Texas items-nothing that could not be justified by the demands of commerce present or prospective.

Mr. Sowden regretted the coarse and unkind remarks which had fallen from the gentleman from Texas. He especially regretted the unkind cut which the gentleman had administered, in his thoughtless remarks, upon the distinguished gentlemen from Indiana and Pennsylvania, Holman and Randall EFFECT OF NEW YEAR'S CALLS. He could find an excuse for the gentleman's unwarranted and indecent assault only in the fact that he was still laboring under the serious effects of his New Year's Mr. Crain then moved to increase the apopriation for Aranzas Pass from $65,000

In opposition to the amendment Mr. Sowden said that the gentleman from Texas had attempted to hold him up to public ridicule because he had not been returned to the next Congress. He left Congress beness, and not because he was left at the polls as some of his colleagues were. He had no regret for the votes he had east since a member of the House, and his record would bear the closest examination, so far as his votes on economic and other questions were concerned. Crain regretted that the gentleman should make two speeches in reply to the pleasant remarks he had made. There was no feeling on his part and he regretted that he bad hurt the gentleman's feelings. He was sorry that the gentleman had been left. The amendment was rejected.

THE TARIFF CHESTNUT

Discussed by the Senate, But No Progress Made.

WASHINGTON, January 2.-The Senate took up the tariff bill at the point where it was left before recess, cotton manufactures. The question was on Mr. Vest's motion to reduce the duty on cotton thread, etc., valued at not exceeding 25 cents per pound, from 10 cents per pound to 35 per cent ad valorem. Mr. West said that his chief objection to a high protective tariff was the enormous prices which the people of the West (the real producers) had to pay under it in order to increase the profits of New England manufacturers.

Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, read a letter from a cotton manufacturer in Georgia -Mr. William H. Young-showing that his mills had been earning average divi-dends of 17 per cent since 1870; that the tariff was of no advantage to him, and that, if he were to make the same class of coarse cotton goods that are sold in England, he could sell them in England, and make a them in England, and make a good profit on them.

Mr. Aldrich said that Southern mills paid but two-thirds of the wages paid to New England operatives, and Mr. Jones replied that the Southern operatives were satisfied and did not go on strikes.

In the course of this discussion Mr. Teller stated that the farmers of the West were remarkable for their intelligence, and that it was their votes that decided the Presidental election. It was the farmers of Indiana who carried that State for Harrison and protection. There were no people in the North or Northwest appealing to be relieved from the protective system.

Mr. Reagan said the great monumental question still remained unanswered and un-answerable—that hundreds of millions of dollars were being transferred annually by operation of law, from the consumers of manufactured profits to the manufacturers

Mr. Teller said the Southern States had increased in wealth since 1880 more than New England had. The bill was finally laid aside without

I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up. As soon as possible I applied two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, one over each kidney, and laid down. In an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family for the last ten years, and have always found them the quickest and best external remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."
